

ILA Web Master Annual Report

10/4/06

Web Site Year in Review

2006 has been a status-quo year for www.idaholibraries.org, marked by business as usual, with no major changes in workflow or site organization. As a result there is little to report.

In light of my recent experiences with the development and launch of the Idaho Commission for Libraries' e-branch in a box project (see <http://help.lili.org>), which utilizes the powerful open source content management system Drupal (see <http://drupal.org>), I have many ideas for improving our web services, and simplifying our workflows using this tool. At current, e-branch obligations prevent me from pursuing this, but I intend to discuss possibilities with the board sometime in 2007.

Domain Name

I continue to pursue the transfer of the idaholibraries.org domain name out of former ILA web master Dan Lester's name and into mine. It is my hope to find a time when it is opportune for both parties to effect this change. Due to various personal obligations over the last twelve months it hasn't been convenient for the previous web master to relinquish the domain.
