

ILA Web Master Report

11/22/04

Web Site Running Smoothly

Since the last Web Master Report, there has been little news of note regarding the web site's operation. As is routine during the months before and after the Annual Conference, we have posted a number of reports on the web site recently. Despite this activity, we've had no cause to alter the structure of the site. Our current design appears to fit us well.

Changing the Guard

The transition to a new set of officers has gone smoothly, from the web master's point of view. The roster and all mailing lists are up-to-date, and it appears (due to the lack of emails asking for passwords) that everyone who needs access to the Officers Only section of the web site has the login information.

A Reminder

The content on our web site is only as current as you help the web master keep it. If you are responsible for providing updated forms or content for the web site, please stay up-to-date. Additionally, if you see pages that need an update, please let the web master know. We've done an outstanding job of providing a timely and accurate site in the last twelve months thanks to everyone's help.

Respectfully Submitted,

Michael Samuelson
